Declining Balance Co-Ownership Home Acquisition Program
Securitization Disclosure Fatwa

(Fatwa 2 of 3)

We, the Zero Shariah Advisory Board, have understood that Canadian governmental agencies and funding partners require home finance companies to provide consumer with various disclosures and representations. Such disclosures refer to the terms “loan” and “interest”, which require the calculation of an annual percentage rate to allow the comparison of one financier to another, and have not been approved by the government or for funders for securitization, to reflect Islamic transactions in which interest is not present.

Such disclosures do not constitute the Islamic contract to which the Consumer is committing. Therefore, the Zero Shariah Advisory Board does not object to the Company providing such disclosures to the Consumer. The Board further does not find that such disclosures, with their references to “interest” for the reporting of tax, securitization, and other disclosure purpose only, corrupt or invalidate the Shariah documents to which the Consumer is first committing to in the financing process.

The Zero Shariah Advisory Board encourages Zero to work with these Canadian governmental agencies and funding parties to modify the documents in such a way as to reflect the interest-free transactions offered by the Company.

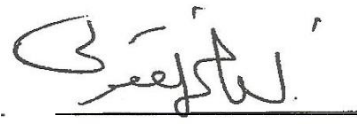

And only Allah knows best.
